EMC Day Scheduled at the Union County Farmers Market

YOUNG HARRIS, Ga. — Blue Ridge Mountain EMC will be participating in EMC Day at the Union County Farmers Market on Saturday, Aug. 3 from 9 a.m. to noon.

“Blue Ridge Mountain EMC is grateful for the opportunity to be celebrated at the Union County Farmers Market,” said Director of Member Services Sonny Mahan. “We see this as a way of connecting with our community and showing our support to the growers and artisans that sell at the market.”

BRMEMC will have bucket trucks, electric model displays, fiber optics displays and more for community members to learn about the electric co-op. Information will be available to take home on the many services that BRMEMC offers its members.

“Getting the opportunity to engage with our community and members at events like EMC Day at the Union County Farmers Market is the best way to get to know them personally and understand the needs of our local communities,” said General Manager Jeremy Nelms. “We look forward to participating in this special event and thank the Union County Farmers Market for organizing this day for BRMEMC.”

BRMEMC invites community members to attend this special event.
